IRISH PARLIAMENT CALLED TO PASS ON PEACE TERMS

DE VALERA TO SUMMON FULL MEETING, IS ANNOUNCEMENT.

ULSTER IN DOUBT

Conflicting Reports from North Lend Uncertainty to Situation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London.—The Irish situation took a sensational turn Thursday when it was announced in Dublin that Eamon de Valera and his assistants had decided to summon a full meeting of the Irish republican parliament to consider the terms of the government's peace proposals.
It has been repeatedly stated in Dublin that the Dail Eireann would not be summoned. Ulster's position had been learned, but coincident with the calling of a meeting of this body came conflicting reports from Dublin and Belfast concerning Ulster's position.
Belfast in Denial.
In Dublin, it is reported that Ulster has been sounded and has returned an answer. While in Belfast, after an important meeting of the cabinet, it was authoritatively stated that the Ulster unionists had received no communication from De Valera.
While these reports at first glance seem irreconcilable, it is pointed out that possibly both may be correct. Itself has not received a communication would not, it is noted, preclude the possibility of an informal discussion between the northern and southern leaders.
Won't Meet Again, Claim.
A dispatch to The Evening News from Belfast said that the Ulster cabinet, on Thursday, morning's meeting discussed an invitation from the Dail Eireann to Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, asking him to attend a conference in Dublin with a view to determining Ulster's attitude. It adds that there is no possibility, however, of another meeting between Sir James and De Valera in Dublin although the Ulster premier is willing to meet the republican leader with Premier Lloyd George in London.
Out of these conflicting reports, however, arises the outstanding fact that the republican parliament is to meet, which is taken to mean that De Valera will give a reply to Lloyd George in the immediate future.
The call for the meeting of the parliament with all members present, involves the release from prison of 25 members of this body and it has been declared the government is willing to facilitate their attendance.

Peasants Fight to Save Chaff

"Our grain has been taken away from us and it is the chaff we are fighting for."
Thus exclaimed the peasants of Tamboff when told they were fools and idiots because they fought the bolshevist troops.
But they had lost everything else and the only thing between them and starvation was the chaff.
Peasants have been fighting the bolsheviks for three years.
They have lost their grain and are starving. America will do what is possible to aid them.
The Soviet government has robbed them and exploited them until they are hopeless and helpless.
Out of the darkness of Russia has come the story of the Peasant Revolt. It has taken a long time to have the truth. But it is here at last, a simple story of the battle against destruction. Destruction has won but the poor peasant farmers made the best fight possible while it lasted.
This story of the Peasant War will be printed in the Janesville Daily Gazette on Saturday. Just now it is the most intensely interesting episode in international affairs.
Do not fail to get the Saturday Gazette and keep informed on the world's most terrible tragedy—a nation destroyed.

Head of Lakes Docks Are Crammed With Coal

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Minneapolis.—Docks at the head of the lakes are practically blockaded with coal, which is not moving inland because of lack of demand, according to W. W. Broughton, president of the Northwest Coal Dock Operators' association.
"Unless there is a substantial increase in demand from the consuming public very soon, so that ships can be made to inland points, the head of the lakes will be a dead end for the necessary additional receipts," Mr. Broughton said. "The total tonnage of coal received before the lake closed to navigation will be the lakon close to last year, and may not equal that of last year, and may cause a coal shortage in the north-west."
Figures supplied by Mr. Broughton up to July 23 give total receipts of bituminous coal at Duluth, Superior and Ashland at $483,000 tons as compared to $589,000 tons for the entire year of 1920. Receipts of anthracite coal were 70,200 tons as compared to 1,398,500 tons for 1920.

Seek Parallel Parking Rule on E. Milwaukee St.

Parallel parking on East Milwaukee street from a point 100 feet north of Main street to the intersection of Bluff, is being advocated by merchants in that block who feel they are discriminated against by the new parking ordinance which became effective last Saturday. This is the only real objection to the ordinance so far as police find. A movement is on foot to petition the city council to amend that portion of the ordinance which now bars cars from parking anywhere in that block. It is argued that the street is wide enough to permit of parallel parking without any danger to traffic. It is possible the matter will be put before the council Monday night.

"SKYSCRAPER BURGAR" INDICTED BY JURY IN WORTHINGTON CASE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago.—Melville Reeves, sometimes known as the "skyscraper burglar," has been indicted by the federal grand jury here in connection with the arrest of John W. Worthington and the indictment of more than a score of others charged with being implicated in a number of recent mail robberies.
Two federal agents left today for a western city bearing a warrant for Reeves.
At least two of those indicted in the Worthington case, who were charged with tampering with securities taken in various mail robberies, will be used as state's witnesses, it is expected.
Reeves is Joseph Smith, Chicago broker, who has revealed considerable as to Worthington's activities in the past, and Alva Harschman of Chicago. The grand jury also indicted the surrender of two more of the mail robbers in connection with the alleged financial machinations of John W. Worthington and announcement that federal investigators had learned that the Chicago bank robberies were being financed in Berlin, Warsaw, Posen and several Italian cities, marked Thursday's progress of the inquiry which the federal men say will result in the apprehension of more than 100,000.
The men who gave themselves up were Alva Harschman, 217 Juneau street, Milwaukee, and John W. Eppa, 1200 W. Madison street, Chicago. Harschman told Colonel Clinch that his only relations with Worthington, comprised the fact that he had loaned him $20,000 worth of commercial papers to the latter. He was arraigned before Judge Landis, pleaded not guilty and his bond was reduced from $10,000 to $2,000.

WOMEN GOLFERS OF MADISON ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING HERE

A party of six prominent Madison women motoring to the Beloit country club for an inter-city golf match came to grief here Thursday morning when the driver of the car, Mrs. Marie March, was arrested on a charge of traveling 50 miles an hour within the city limits. She was fined $10 and costs.

Only about $2 bill," Mrs. March told Judge H. L. Maxfield, "but I think among the six of us we have enough to pay the fine. I have never been considered a fast driver and know I wasn't going 50 miles an hour. I'd be scared to death if I traveled over 40."

"I don't think you women would be scared to go over anything," said the judge as he assessed the fine.
C. W. Arting, a traveling man, was also fined $10 and costs for speeding.

Both arrests were made by Motorcycle Officer Charles Seldmore on Center avenue.

CUT EXPENDITURES $25,000,000, EDICT

Heavy Decrease to Avoid New Taxes Urged by Mellon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington.—A cut of more than $25,000,000 in the ordinary expenditures of the government this fiscal year is necessary if additional taxes are to be avoided, the house ways and means committee was informed Thursday by Secretary Mellon.
On present estimates, he said, the total government cost this year will be $4,500,000,000 of which $3,800,000,000 must come from taxation. The committee suggested reductions of $25,000,000 in the ordinary revenue yield for the year "could not be permitted to fall below $3,570,000,000 the estimated yield under existing law."
The treasury secretary told the committee that actual expenditures for the first half month of this fiscal year indicated that unless there was an extraordinary new effort to reduce expenditures, "the estimate which the treasury had presented might be regarded as conservative."
The committee for July 1921 he said, amounted to about $322,000,000, as against $207,000,000 for July, 1920, while the current deficit last month was $113,000,000 as against $16,000,000 in the same month of 1920.
"An analysis of the principal items of expenditure for July, 1921," the secretary continued, "shows that $50,000,000 was consumed on the war department, $35,000,000 on account of the navy and $22,000,000 on account of the shipping board. If expenditures are to continue at anything like these rates, the estimates will be greatly exceeded."
Changes Announced.
Excluding the suggested increase of one cent in first class mail rates and the two cent tax on bank checks, Mr. Mellon estimated that the proposed revision of taxes would result in a total yield of $3,570,000,000 in the fiscal year 1922. His estimates assumed the following changes:
Increase in the corporation income tax of Jan. 1, 1921, (on Jan. 1, 1922) and the repeal of the $2,000 exemption.
Repeal of the excess profits tax as of Jan. 1, 1921, (on Jan. 1, 1922).
Increased collections of back income and profit taxes.
An increase of tax on cigarettes and smoking and chewing tobacco.
Repeal of the transportation tax on freight and passengers, the tax to be reduced one half Jan. 1, 1922, and entirely repealed Jan. 1, 1923.
Double Stamp Rates.
An increase of the documentary stamp taxes by approximately doubling the present rates so as to yield an additional $20,000,000.
The license tax on motor vehicles averaging about $10 a piece and to be graded according to power.
Repeal of the tax on ice cream and frozen fruit, which will be replaced by a maximum sur-tax rate reduced to 32 per cent.
Repeal of the so-called luxury taxes on wearing apparel, carpets, rugs, trunks, valises, and the like.

35 WAREHOUSES OF LORILLARD TO CLOSE IN STATE

JANESVILLE, EDGERTON AND MADISON ARE AFFECTED.

BLAME NEW WAGE

Wisconsin Tobacco Will Be Shipped South to Be Handed by Blacks.

Decision to close indefinitely all their 35 warehouses in Wisconsin, including that at Janesville, has been made by the P. Lorillard tobacco company. The order will affect approximately 1,000 employees, or 10 per cent of them more than 40 years of age.
At Janesville, 73 women stemmers will be thrown out of work and 15 men. Nearby warehouses that will be hit by the order are located at Edgerton and Madison. The others are scattered throughout the state.
Reason for the closing down is the new state-wide minimum wage law which applies to the tobacco company. This law requires the payment of a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour in cities of 5,000 or more population and 22 cents an hour in smaller communities.
"The Lorillard company cannot pay such a wage to these women," explained Mr. Keller. "It is too high and would never be earned because of our helplessness. It is too high for women who cannot find work in factories or other places. They work slowly and visit while working."
It seems to be that it was an unwise piece of legislation for the state to put into effect at this time. The husbands of many of our women are out of work at present and their earnings in our warehouses are their only source of income. It will work considerable of a hardship upon them."
The women are employed pipe stemmers and in stemming tobacco. They are paid on a pound rate basis. The local plant will be operated until the present stock on hand is completed, which will be in about a week or seven days.

With Ship South

It is the plan of the Lorillard company, Mr. Keller states, to ship all its Wisconsin tobacco to the south where negro help will be employed to stem it. Most of the tobacco is done in the vicinity of Richmond, Va.

The Lorillard company has been in Wisconsin for about eight years. It has remained here despite the fact that practically all of the tobacco companies have gone out because of what they term adverse legislation. Liggett & Myers have a warehouse at Watertown but it is not known if they have his residence at 265 North High street, says he will remain in Janesville, transacting a general commission business, and will act as agent for the Lorillard people.

RAILROAD MEN TO VOTE SUNDAY ON NATIONAL STRIKE

SPECIAL MEETING OF ALL TRAINMEN IS CALLED HERE.

EXPECT BALLOTS

Favorable Vote on Order Would Tie Up All Roads, Sept. 1.

Word has been received here that ballots for the expected strike of railroad men will be delivered to Janesville locals this week, according to information gathered Wednesday. This is believed to affect all branches of railway service. The trainmen and clerks already have been notified to this effect. A special meeting of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will be held at Easter hall Sunday at 2:30, at which time this matter will probably be taken up.
"You can count on the men all voting in a strike," said one railroad worker Wednesday.
The feeling is growing that unless the men stand out now against a reduction in wages, which was ordered by the railroad labor board to take effect July 1 and amounting to an average of $16 per man a month, a further cut will be made by the railroads in a short time. If the strike ballots which will be held at Easter hall over the nation are in favor of a general walkout, the strike probably will take effect about Sept. 1.

COUNTY OUT FOR STATE FAIR HONORS

Determined Efforts to Be Made for Sweepstakes Banner Won in '20

Winning the grand county sweepstakes banner at the Wisconsin state fair is the aim of progressive Rock county farmers, now cooperating for exhibiting the county's produce and prize stock. Rock was outlasted in the grand sweepstakes in 1920, but the county is determined to win this year.

The state fair exhibits are now being prepared by County Agent R. T. Glasco. At the same time the Janesville and county fairs are not being neglected.

Prizes awarded to the county at fairs make one of the best mediums of county advertising. Enter Prize Winners.

A year ago Rock county walked off with the sweepstakes banner won in the grand sweepstakes, with cattle and with pigged seeds.

Under the marketing system this year one point will be given in the county contest for each dollar prize. The county will be entered in practically all departments. W. G. Miles and the Broughton Brothers, both from Evansville, will enter sweepstakes. Rock county should figure in the prize prizes for Edward Parker and J. J. McCann both plan on entering animals.

Have Good Cattle.

In cattle the county leads the state in short horns. There will also be Holsteins, Guernseys, Brown Swisses and a few Durhams on display. It is expected that the following breeders will enter cattle: Walter Little estate, Peter Trainor, Koshkonong, Marquart Brothers, Milton Junction, J. J. McCann and Ira Tamm.

Record cows. Whether they will be shown at the state fair is not known, for many times a prize producing cow does not make a good show animal.

There will be a big display of pigged seeds and crains. Noyes Rascallier and John Thorpe will show the two grain growers who will place exhibits.

Will Push County.

Pushing the next two weeks an attempt will be made to interest other farmers in preparing exhibits for the state fair.

"We want a big display to put Rock county to the front as a producing county, where it should be," stated County Agent R. T. Glasco. The county again, if sufficient farmers are interested enough to send in exhibits."

POOR CONCRETE FOR BIG SEWER PROJECT

Monterey Is Scene of Much Activity on $100,000 Job.

Pouring of concrete for the first section of the $100,000 Eastern avenue main outlet sewer was begun Thursday by the Mierswa Construction company, Oaklough, starting at a point underneath the high bridge of the C. & N. W. road in Monterey. The section will be 4 feet, 6 inches in diameter.

A fairly good start on the big project has been made despite failure of the heavy excavating equipment to arrive on scheduled time. With hand labor, the company has dug a deep trench about seven feet wide extending from the railroad bridge to a point a few feet east of the city's bridge in Monterey. The big ditch, running parallel to the river along its south bank, is filled with water, resembling a moat or an irrigation canal.

NEED FOR A DAVES IN EVERY CITY.

Gen. Dawes, who holds the most unpopular place in the Federal government, has already succeeded in cutting down some hundred million of dollars in expenses—cutting off just that much waste and inefficiency. What he is doing is to see that every dollar spent gets for the government a dollar in service or results. He is the government manager. He tells cabinet officers how to save and they have begun to like it. Application of the same principle is needed in every state and city. The attention of the council was rather forcibly called to waste by Alderman Gibbons and should result in an investigation and a readjustment of expenses to fit the times and future prospects.

Taxpayers are willing to pay if they see results. If six men are doing what four can do as is usually the political method; if efficiency is lost, if the 15,234 people of Janesville are receiving only 66 per cent of what they should get out of the effort and money expended in public service, then it is time to find out in detail why this is so. That was why congress provided for Dawes and why he has been able to save through coordination of departments, more than a hundred millions of dollars to the people of the nation. Is Janesville buying in the lowest market? Are departments so related as to get the best results and the highest efficiency? One of the items Gen. Dawes found was that when furniture was needed new articles were purchased. Other offices were junking furniture. In one instance 21,000 persons—the swivel chair brigade—were let out by the war department. There were acres of desks to sell. Now all these desks and other office paraphernalia are put in a storage place and furnished to departments when needed. These little things count up to the big ones.

Then too it was found that departments were trying to spend all the money that was appropriated for them. Hereafter under Gen. Dawes, the amount spent will be what is necessary and the budget will not be a temptation to extravagance. In the next year in Janesville we naturally will seek an adjustment of taxes. There will be a great falling off in assessed valuations due largely to one plant. But already there is a demand that the same percentage of reduction that is made for the Samson company be applied to other property. The Board of Review will be confronted with this problem. This is the proper time to discuss all these matters and have them washed out before the last call is made. They are all hinging on the question of whether we are getting the highest efficiency for expenditure, exercising rigid business supervision and economy with the ultimate end that taxes may not be increased but lowered.

It would seem that the city council might have a Daves and if not, name a committee to investigate these many important items in the city question box.

Some of the oil stock sharks must feel envious of the mail robber trust with its $5,000,000 loot.

THE PROOF IS HERE.

Proof of the need of a real recreation park with attractions for both the children and the adults is found in the figures printed elsewhere showing that 23,409 persons attended the several playgrounds of the city in the month of July. More than 13,000 were at the two city beaches.

With a park, large enough to accommodate picnic parties, concerts twice a week, a few attractions and as fast as it is possible to provide it, a zoo with animals of our own state predominating, we shall be able to record that the attendance is far beyond the phenomenal number using playgrounds. The saloons are gone, or if not altogether so, are aging, and we have nothing to take their place as meeting and gathering points for the people. Here is a most demanding opportunity for the persons concerned about a better city and public welfare, to do something constructive and worth while. A year has passed and we are no nearer, actually doing anything than in 1920 at this time. There is a reorganized Chamber of Commerce and we call attention of that body to the largest and most important job confronting it in the Community Center and providing something tangible for winter attractions.

In celebration of the opening of a new paper mill in that city costing $5,000,000 the Wisconsin Rapids Tribune issued a 48 page paper giving much interesting detail of the great enterprise and historical information of value in reference to paper making and machinery. It was a large enterprise well done.

With the purchase of the Sheboygan Telegram by the Press of that city, one daily newspaper will serve there. Charles E. Broughton, the able editor and publisher of the Press, will find it pos-

PICTURES BY A WRITER

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Paintings by a well known author are being exhibited here. The urge to paint struck Sherwood Anderson, novelist, one intense day, and forthwith he sent for paints and a brush and went to work to preserve some of his most colorful thoughts on paper.

As a result he dashed off as intriguing a collection of paintings as anyone could wish to mount over. We say intriguing guardedly. The thoughtful observer hesitates to pronounce cubist, surrealist and post-impressionist art beautiful, funny or hideous. It is even risky to speak of it in the pat language of the critics as vigorous, sympathetic, cold or brilliant. But intriguing, the ultra-modern art undeniably is.

After half an hour in company with "Family Pride," "A Tired Sea," "God's Plywater," and the rest of the collection, a person may feel mentally perturbed, but one significant fact is clear enough—namely, the cubism did not die—as many people suppose—when the nude desecrated the staircase and passed on. Rather, art uncontrolled is still persistently holding its own against a giggling world.

The Anderson collection, consisting of about 20 paintings, hangs for the present in the Waytaker's Book Shop. The pictures are small, about 18 inches by 12, and framed simply in narrow wooden frames. They are hung in small groups, at a convenient level, so that a buyer of books can sit on a bench and bask in art while waiting for his change. His impressions, if he is uninitiated into the aims and emotions of cubism are apt to be something like those of a couple bent on getting some sense out of the pictures.

"A Tired Sea"—Huh! it does look sort of tired with the waves down in those dull blue and yellow streaks and falling around on top of each other. Wonder who that is in the corner is sitting on his hands. He must be tired too.

"Painter's Pegasus"—This is one of those cubist things. He's got something that would pass for a gray fish with his mouth open in this too. But I suppose it's not that at all. Maybe an X-ray picture of an emotion. See the way the colors are put on in folds like a twisted scarf—green, yellow, pinkish red—and all tinged with gray. Wonder if that's any clue?

"An American City"—Now that's rather attractive. Two seen rows of buildings like that, grimed with smoke and with the sky just that smoky blue color.

"The Queen Walks by the Sea"—Well, this wins the hand carved pin cushion. Jagged streaks of blue and brown—and orange, and turquoise and pale yellow; and two things that might be leaves, if leaves were blue, on one side. If there's a disfigurement of paint, it's completely disguised.

Thus the world that likes pretty pictures dismisses the subjective art.

Sherwood Anderson's paintings are interesting because whether he can paint or not, the critics some time ago agreed that he can write. And when a man analyzes human nature as expertly, and writes of it as vividly as Anderson does, it is certain that no vacant mind is back of the weird streaks and blobs of color.

Whether he has achieved real art, however, is another matter. It is unlikely that the painter himself is concerned with this momentous question. He regards his pictures as "adventures in form and color." It has given him pleasure to produce them because spontaneous self-expression is always a delight. When the impulse to create comes, he thinks it should be gratified. Even if the result is not art, there is no reason why man should not paint, dance, or write poetry for the pleasure of expressing himself.

The novelist has at least one convert to his theory. His wife, a musician, had, we are told, always regarded the arts as formidable. But, convinced by her husband's arguments and by his interest in his new form of self-expression, Mrs. Anderson has taken up modeling as a pastime.

Sherwood Anderson's attitude toward art is further explained in a note which accompanies his exhibition. "There are certain things that haunt the mind. They cannot be expressed in words except through the poet who occasionally raises the power of words beyond the real possibility of words. I am not a musician, but it is not unlikely that what I have tried to do in form and color is related to the impulse of the musician. In a very real sense, I am a musician. Before my house lay a bay—an outlet from the Gulf of Mexico. There had been heavy rains up country and the red soil was washed down into my little bay. The bay became red. The morning and afternoon light falling on it made a color madness that got into my brain. Although I had never touched a brush I sent for brushes and paints.

"The adventures" are my inner reactions from the things I see about me. They are done in the faith that an impulse needs to be strong enough to break through technical training. In fact technical training might destroy the impulse.

"To you they may be ugly, meaningless, or beautiful. No doubt all of my inner thoughts and impulses—like your own if they could be seen—would be to some ugly, to others meaningless, and to still others beautiful."

Cleon Throckmorton, an artist of this city, has given us the artist's viewpoint of the Anderson exhibit. He pointed out that an example of cubist art is not to be viewed in the same manner as one would study a painting by Raphael or Reynolds. Painters of academic schools proceed on the premise that the function of art is to create beauty. The extreme modernist sees no particular reason why art should be beautiful. Instead, he aims to visualize and reproduce the groups of things that eliminate all limitation of actual forms because he claims these merely serve as distractions from the central thought of the picture.

Therefore, anyone looking at a futuristic composition is not supposed to regard it as a picture in which a hidden object, described in the title, is to be ferreted out. Instead, he puts on an abstract frame of mind, and sits and looks at a thing before him, and tries to feel. But it's no use trying to explain a cubist picture, or even emotions on looking at one. Either you get it or you don't. We refuse to say in which class we fall.

It would seem that this futuristic kind of art might indeed be spontaneous without the long apprenticeship necessary to achieve real skill in the vision of a painter. Mr. Anderson suggests, find that technique would cramp his style.

With this, Mr. Throckmorton does not agree. Handling of color, he says, is not dependent alone on vision. A painter may see clearly in his mind the exact lines he wishes to reproduce but getting them out of the palette in another problem. An amateur, he explained, pointing to a lamp, could not reproduce that green exactly on paper. Great painters have studied day in and day out for years to gain mastery.

After studying the Anderson pictures, this artist found the purely abstract, cubist pictures the most praiseworthy. Where the novelist merely painted a realistic tree or compromised by painting objects in a post-impressionistic manner, his lack of technique became glaring. Almost any amateur could do similar work.

TEMPTATION.
"I am not sure of myself," said he.

"As we scoffed at a fuller brother.
"Life never has tried or tested me
In the way of many another."

"And I cannot say that I shouldn't sin,
And risk my soul for a dream to win."

"What do you mean?" I asked of him.
"I mean just this," he told me.
"In a desperate fight and a battle grim,
I wonder could honor hold me."

"Were my babies crying for food today
I think I'd get it for them some way."

"It is easy enough to be straight and true
When a man has no need to falter,
But things can happen to me and you
Which all of our creeds would alter."

"And I can imagine myself so tried
That I should thrust honor and truth aside."

"So at no man living I'll raise my hand
In anger, or try to strike him,
Till I know the facts and I understand
That I shouldn't be just like him."

"How was he tempted and what the need
Which led the man to commit the deed?"

"I would be honest, and always fair,
But sometimes the test is bitter.
And maybe the brother that's fallen there
For I can see he's judged the fitter."

"By the things he did for another's sake,
Then we who never chose must make."

A DIRGE OF HOT DOGS.
No greater tragedy ever did I see.
No greater calamity may there e'er be,
Than the woe that I relate to thee.

The train was moving at immense speed.
The dog beside the track it did not heed,
But galloped ahead against this mastiff breed.

The engineer once struck his bell,
Then hit the dog and sent it to the hell,
It gave one shriek and then infinite spell.

Now whenever I pass the butcher store,
The sausages that hang along the door
Bring memories of this dog's sad fate.

—Abraham Katz.

TO THE WORKER!
All glory to you, ye men of brown,
Or both, that moves you to create
While others dawdle, fearful of their fate;
You strive to enter the enchanted gate
That leads to God and mankind's final dawn!
All glory to you, ye men of brown,
While those who stall are only half alive.

Who's Who Today

LADY MARJORIE DALRYMPLE.

Lady Marjorie Dalrymple, six feet three in stature, has arrived in America to embark upon a business career in New York, and to establish branches in the United States for a large concern dealing in all classes of goods. She is the only unmarried sister of the present and twelfth Earl of Stair, and was decorated by King George last year with the Order of the Queen of the British Empire for her work in the war hospitals.

Contrary to popular belief, neither she nor her brother, the present Lord Stair, nor yet his sister, is descended from the so-called Glencoe, Earl of the Scotch Empire, who was the principal instigator of the terrible massacre of Glencoe. Lady Marjorie has quite recently been the heroine of a novel, "The Curse of Glencoe," which is being published by the London publisher, George G. Harrap & Co.

The "Glencoe Earls," eldest sister, the Hon. Janet Dalrymple, was the heroine of Sir Walter Scott's popular novel, "The Bride of Lammermoor," and according to Sir Robert Dalrymple, Edinburgh Post, dated 21 September, 1919 (appearing in the review of the novel in question), she had been forced by her mother, Lady Stair, to relinquish Lord Rutherford, to whom she had solemnly pledged her love, and to wed instead, against her will, David Dunbar, eldest son of Sir David Dunbar of Baldoon.

It is on this account that the heroine of the story has always been known in the family as the "Bride of Lammermoor," but as the "Bride of Baldoon."

The annals of the house of Dalrymple have furnished the scene for many other romances. Lady Marjorie's father, the late Lord Dalrymple, married the daughter of the Earl of Argyll, and the marriage of the seventh earl, who died a little over a century ago, had proved a perfect gold mine to playwrights and authors. For he married the lovely daughter of the Earl of Dysart, the union was dissolved a couple of years later, on the demand of a woman of evil reputation, with whom Lord Stair, while still a bachelor, had been unfaithful to his wife.

This, according to Scotch marriage law, was sufficient to constitute a common law marriage. Nor was it until ten years afterward that the earl was able to obtain a divorce from the woman, on the grounds of discovery that she had already a husband living at the time that she stayed with him at Perth. Before this, however, Lord Stair's real wife had died.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

August 4, 1881.—The examination in the case of State vs. Fred Blank continues in the municipal court, evidence of all the neighbors in Janesville being called. It is said that Fred Blank, who is accused of murdering Mrs. Walworth, was a native of Janesville. The thermometer stands at 99 today in some places.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

August 4, 1891.—A young fellow named Homer Tucker was seen in this city yesterday after an absence of seven years. He left one day and went fishing in the river. Then it occurred to him to get a job. He went to Chicago and from there to the west coast. He then went to New York, sailed for Europe, returned, visited the west coast again and after making another trip to Europe came home to his mother, who thought he had been drowned.

A NEW ANTI-MOVEMENT

The world is cursed with a number of anti-organizations or movements now-backing up by the name of "science" or "hygiene." The anti-anti and anti-the society is almost invariably made up of people who are incapable of constructive thought or purpose but who desire to destroy established institutions. The latest anti movement is one that has been launched in England against the physical training of girls. In this movement the movement is this, from a medical woman.

"Women who develop masculine ideas instead of feminine instincts do this at the cost of the male potential whole functioning by the father to the daughter in trust for the male line. Athletic women produce female offspring mainly and seldom have sons. When sons are born to them, they are apt to be puny and delicate, or generally effeminate or of inferior type. The cultured classes, who are mainly afflicted by athletic training, are failing to provide sons of the first quality and the male talents and initiative which have not our Anglo-Saxon race in the van of evolution."

This medical woman gets a bit ahead of her theory when she declares the manliness of the young Englishman of the day. The sons of the "cultured classes" seemed to be right there in the late war.

The merit of woman's theory—which she states as though it were an established or accepted fact—that athletic mothers bear female offspring chiefly is peculiar to herself. It is a little evidence as we have on that score rather indicates that mothers who have had much physical training bear chiefly sons.

There can be no excuse for launching any campaign against athletic training for girls in this country. Whatever may be the errors and defects of the potential mothers in England or elsewhere, there can be no question that thorough physical training not only detracts nothing from the feminine, refinement and gentle nature of a woman but distinctly develops her capacity for the whole function of motherhood. Thousands and millions of our young women suffer disastrously in various ways relating to their sex by reason of neglect of physical training.

Q. How can I tell whether a watermelon is ripe without plucking it? J. R. C.

A. To decide whether a watermelon is ripe note the condition of the "tendrils" or "curls" opposite the fruit on the vine. After plucking the fruit up and down just about the time the fruit is ripe. A safer way is to note the color of the underside of the fruit. It generally turns from green to yellow. The color of the underside of the fruit is "black" or "snap" the fruit with the middle finger. If it gives a dull thud it is ripe. The skin of the ripe melon is somewhat dull and firm.

Q. How is Swedish iron tempered? A. H. H.

A. The bureau of standards says that iron cannot be tempered; this applies to Swedish as well as other kinds. After being alloyed with carbon so as to form steel it may be hardened by quenching from a temperature which must be above the critical range of the metal. Steel is usually tempered, that is, heated to a relatively low temperature in order to reduce brittleness. The use to which the steel will be put determines the tempering.

Q. What can be done to suppress rabies? T. E. M.

A. The bureau of animal industry says that the problem is solved by the rabid dog is eliminated. At recommended licensing all dogs, muzzling all dogs not otherwise kept in restraint, and rigid inspection and quarantine of bordering ports of entry. Other countries, notably Great Britain, have managed to stamp out the disease.

Q. What are Roman cements? N. M. E.

A. In Europe natural cements are called Roman cements and they were first manufactured in England in 1796 by James Parker. Natural cements began to be manufactured in the United States about 1852. In the United States natural cement rock was discovered while building the Erie canal in New York in 1818.

Dinner Stories

A little girl was for a mother a charming woman prominent in public life. One day the child heard a cat, down in the barnyard, erring for its mother. She trotted thither and began consulting it through the bars.

"Don't cry, dear," said she. "Don't cry. Your mother will come home soon. She isn't lost. She's just gone to the club."

"Tomorrow," announced 5-year-old Frank proudly to his Sunday school teacher, "is my birthday."

"Why," returned she, "is mine, too."

The boy's face clouded with perplexity, and after a brief silence he said:

"How did you get so much bigger'n me?"

To make the sport more attractive, if possible, a brass band had been hired from the nearest town to play during an important match of the season at the local club. A goodly crowd assembled in the meadow, but the musicians failed to materialize.

After watching the football for about half an hour, a buxom-looking personage, who had been seen very frequently snoring of dispute, made his way to the gate and indignantly demanded his money back.

"Never seen a match before today," he explained, "and I never want to see another. Then footballers are so jealous for my liking, they don't give the band a chance!"

"But the band isn't here!" observed the gatekeeper.

"There's one of 'em came, at any rate," came the answer. "That chap with the whistle yonder; but as soon as ever he starts to give a tune the footballers stop playing and threaten to punch his head!"

SMOKES PIPE IN ZION; FINED $65.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Zion City.—Smoking a pipe in Zion City cost Frederick Stockstill $65. The city, which has ordinances regulating women's behavior and how its residents shall spend Sunday, also has an ordinance against smoking.

"This thing must stop," the judge remarked when he mentioned the $65 debt to the city.

"Stop," Stockstill replied, "I'm as stopped as my name would indicate."

GIANT STATE DAIRY UNIT IS PROPOSED

When the work is completed, leaders in the state's production of butter, eggs, milk and cheese will be disposed of entirely by this organization, the market will be stabilized and the farmers will receive increased prices without assessing much heavier prices against consumers.

BRIGHTENS HOMES OF BLIND PEOPLE WITH FREE RECORDS

A circulating library of phonograph records is being conducted free for the blind of Milwaukee by C. D. Evans, 67, Milwaukee, formerly of Janesville, blind musician and piano tuner.

Mr. Evans is in Janesville this week called here by the death of his nephew C. B. Evans, and is stopping at 166 North Washington street. Mr. Evans lived in Janesville for 11 years having moved to Milwaukee in 1901.

He is a member of the Badger State Advancement association of the Blind but started this library himself but five months ago believing that there is no other force which can give more cheer than music. Contributions have been made and Mr. Evans has secured five phonographs from contributors which he has placed in the homes of blind people in Milwaukee.

A library of 300 records has so far been contributed and he has secured them into lots of a dozen each. With each phonograph he has placed 36 records and exchanges a dozen at a time replacing them with a different set.

The Badger Advancement association is now helping a little financially in his work but not to a large extent and contributions of money, phonographs, records, albums, motors or cases for anything that figures in the work will be appreciated. Mr. Evans' Milwaukee address is 157 Burleigh street.

Becoming blind at 2 years of age, Mr. Evans entered the Wisconsin school for the blind where he studied for 12 years and became a piano tuner. He recently took a course in player piano repairing. He plays the violin. He lived in Whitewater for some time where he taught music and led a 21-piece orchestra. He was an instructor at Milton College for a short time.

CANT USE RAIL WHEN YOU HOIST MALTED, EDICT

Madison.—Drinkers of non-intoxicating liquor in Wisconsin must stand far enough away from the bar to be unable to place a foot on the rail or to set the glass on the counter in order to keep from violating the law, an opinion of J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, holds. He also held that bars located at right angles to the street, that permit a view back of them from the outside, do not obstruct the view and need not be removed.

Helen Mont.—Louis J. Emerson, of Illinois, was re-elected president of the National Association of Secretaries of State at the close of the annual convention here.

200 PCT. INCREASE IN COURT WORK

Municipal Judge's Salary Stays at $2,600 Despite Heavier Docket.

While business of the municipal court here has more than tripled since 1913, the salary of the presiding judge has not been increased a single dollar.—It has remained stationary at $2,600 per year for the past 30 years. Only 234 cases came before the court in the 18 months ending July 1, 1921, as against 787 cases during the one and one-half year period ending July 1, 1921.

These facts and figures are cited in a petition to the county board of supervisors asking that the salary of the municipal court judge be increased from $2,600 to $3,600. Friends of Judge H. L. Maxfield are anxious that the county board grant such an increase at the next session, in November. The petition was introduced at the special August meeting, held Tuesday, the committee recommending only a $300 increase for the court clerk who has been receiving $300 per year. It was brought out that Judge Maxfield himself has been paying $50 a month out of his own salary in order to retain the present clerk.

Civil Cases Heavy.—How the court business has increased since the days when Charles L. Milford, now county judge, was in charge there is best brought out by figures showing the number of civil criminal and city cases, together with the fines collected.

Below is given a record for the 18 months under Judge Maxfield beginning Jan. 1, 1919, and ending July 1, 1921, as compared to the record under Judge Maxfield for the 18 months from January 1, 1920, to July 1, 1921:

Criminal cases.....	112-18	1920-21
Civil cases.....	234	787
City cases.....	20	182
Civil cases.....	81	255
Fines.....	$2,383.93	$5,520.36

Other Court Work.—In addition to this 200 per cent increase in these three branches of cases, Judge Maxfield has also handled 24 cases in 18 months in juvenile court, a division started since he took office.

Besides all this work, the municipal court now has another duty—to take care of cases coming under the mothers' pension law. There are now 53 persons drawing aid for dependent children.

Probably the heaviest years for fines were 1917 and 1918, when a total of $47,000 was assessed, the top year being 1919, when the total was $22,247. Felony cases handled by Judge Maxfield have been: 148 in 1919; 75 in 1920, and 26 the first half of 1921. Only 22 felony cases were before the court in 1921.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:

I read with interest your timely editorial in last evening's Gazette, calling the Council's attention to the new parking system.

While the new parking system is being installed, it is a gross neglect on the part of the council is working a hardship on the strangers and many others, that visit our city. My attention was called to this matter Tuesday evening when I was standing at the Milwaukee street entrance of the Myers hotel, when a party of tourists who had parked their car in front of Ziegler's Clothing store, going into the hotel and upon their return they found an officer waiting at their car informing them that they must not park in this block.

How are strangers going to know where to park unless we have signs and it is a gross injustice that the county board grant such an increase at the next session, in November. The petition was introduced at the special August meeting, held Tuesday, the committee recommending only a $300 increase for the court clerk who has been receiving $300 per year. It was brought out that Judge Maxfield himself has been paying $50 a month out of his own salary in order to retain the present clerk.

Another unfair deal in this so-called parking system just introduced is not allowing cars to park parallel to East Milwaukee from Main to Buff street while they are allowed to park on West Milwaukee street.

It is working a hardship in this East Milwaukee street district on the merchants, and they should be treated as fairly as their brothers on the West end, for if ever there was a time in business when a merchant needs cooperation, it is today.

Our clinic has been one of the largest tax payers in this city for the last seventy-five years and I have always endeavored to do my part towards a betterment for the community, and I would like to see all parties concerned given a square deal in this new parking ordinance, which we are not now receiving.

Gentlemen of the Council, I am here to tell you that this matter should be given your prompt attention, as we need all the outsiders to visit this town as possible, and why not show them we are metropolitan and not provincial in the management of this city.

Mr. Editor, I thank you very kindly for this space, sincerely hoping that the council will see fit to make a change in this parking ordinance that will be satisfactory to the community in general.

PETER L. MYERS.

You Can Park Here

Farmers and others who wish to park cars may park their cars all around the Gazette office. Buff street on the west side of the Gazette building is a fine place for cars. There is a good asphalt street and little danger from a jam. Parking may be done on Milwaukee street, East of the Gazette corner also. If you are doubting about the place to stand the car drive up to the Gazette corner.

Rockwell Will Speak, Friday

E. C. Rockwell, secretary of the Chicago Milk Producers' association, will be the speaker at the meeting at the fair grounds here Friday afternoon. The meeting place was changed from Shoppers to Janesville by officers of the Rock county association.

Among other issues to be discussed is the future of the strike against the Janesville Pure Milk company. During their meeting last Monday the Janesville township association urged the continuation of the strike and adoption of more effective means to limit the supply to three Janesville distributors.

Rock county dairymen are watching the outcome of legislation in congress and what policy the federal government takes to prevent or curb the making of filled milk. Two types of legislation are now before congress. One of these bills was introduced by Representative Voight, Wisconsin, which like the state law here, prohibits the manufacture of the filled milk and denies its shipment between states. The other is a measure aimed to tax the filled milk condensers to death with a heavy tax and duty on cotton seed oil, coccoanut and soy bean oils, which are used with skim milk.

The offices of the Chicago marketing company have been moved from South LaSalle street to 312 S. South Clinton street, just opposite the Chicago and Northwestern depot.
